First Day of the Annual Racing Meeting at Baltimore.

Grand Attendance and Spirited Contests.

Preakness the Winner of the Mile Dash, Lochiel the Hurdle Race, Tom Bowling the Dixie Stakes and Harry Bassett the Two-Mile Heats.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23, 1873. Never were admirers of horse racing blessed with finer weather than were the thousands who visited Pimilco Course this afternoon, and the multitude of ladies and gentiemen were highly delighted with the sport given by the Maryland Jockey Club. The grand stand was filled with the fashion and beauty of Baltimore, and the carmages in the field re-sembled hugh bouquets, so filled were they with elegantly dressed ladies. Four races were on the card, the first a mile dash, the second a hurdle race, the third the Dixie Stakes and the fourth two mile heats. The track was very heavy and holding, and it was impossible for any of the horses to make fast time on it. The great attraction was Basset and Shylock was one of far greater interest as a racing event. The contest was close throughout and was highly appreciated by all beholders.

DASH OF ONE MILE.

The first race was a dash of one mile for all ages, that have not won during the year if three years old allowed 5 lbs.; if four years old allowed 7 lbs.; if five years old and upwards allowed 10 lbs.; purse of $500, of which $100 goes to the second horse. Running down the back stretch, the struggle was close, and as the horses passed the half-mile pole, Chickabiddy had the best of it by a head, Tom Boston second, a neck in front of Oriotan, Preakness, fourth, Allie Hunt fifth. Going around the lower turn Preakness showed his racing powers in heavy going, and running around the leaders came to the front at the three-quarter pole. THE RACE.

Prince of Wales was first away, Victor second, Lochiel third, the start being very good. The horses ran to the first hurdle side and side and made the jump at the same instant, Victor and Prince of Wales giving the top rail of the hurdle a reminder as they passed over. Victor then went to the front and showed the way around the upper turn and down the backstretch to the second hurdle, which was stationed near the half-mile pole. Victor was first over, Lochiel second, Prince of Wales a few lengths behind. The third hurdle was near the three-quarter pole, and this was knocked down by the Victor knocked down one section of it, while Prince. Tom Bowling soon went to the front and led eight lengths to the quarter pole, Lizzie Lucas second, two lengths ahead of Catesby, the latter a length in front of Merodac. At the half-mile pole Tom Bowling was leading forty yards, the others as before. Iom kept the gap open all the way around, passing the stand fifteen or twenty lengths in advance of Catesby, who was a neck in advance of Lizzie Lucas, the latter half a length ahead of Merodac. Tom was taken in hand around the upper turn and down the backstretch, and the others, racing for the second money, closed up per turn and down the backstretch, and the others, racing for the second money, closed up belief to the daylight. At the quarter pole Tom Bowling led ten lengths, Merodac second, one length ahead of Lizzie Lucas, the latter a length ahead of Catesby. At the half-mile pole Tom was about eight lengths in front under a strong put, Merodac second, two lengths in advance of Lizzie Lucas, the latter was given his head, and in a very short time he was again fifteen lengths away from the others. The race for second money was a good one. As Merodac and Lizzie Lucas ran around the lower turn they effectually disposed of Catesby, who at the three-quarter pole was entirely used up, and Lizzie at that point was struggling hard to overtake Merodac. Tom Bowling galloped home a winner by fifteen lengths, Merodac second, two lengths ahead of Lizzie Lucas, the latter being eighty yards in advance of Catesby. Time of the two miles, 3:58.

THROES OF LONG ISLAND CITY.

The Impeachment at Length Ended-The Charges Against Mayor Debevoise Rejected by the Court-A Humiliating Defeat of the Self-Styled "Reformers." Shortly after six o'clock last evening Long Island City was aglow with rejoicing, the exuber ance taking the form of burning tar-barrels in the ance taking the form of burning tar-barrels in the sections surrounding the residence of Mayor Debevoise. The news had just arrived from Hempstead, where the Court of Oyer and Terminer had been in session during the past four days of the week, that the impeachment 'ring" of the Board of Aldermen had carried their charges against the Mayor into Court, and that the Judges thereof were so discussed with the frivolity of the "impresement" gusted with the frivolity of the "impeachment" articles that they refused to entertain or receive as announced in the Herald of Tuesday, two of the impeachers went to Hempstead on that day to inquire whether they could not go into Court with charges adopted by less than two-thirds of a meeting of the Aldermanic Board. Finding they could not, they returned post haste and tried to convene another meeting on Tuesday evening. This also was im haste and tried to convene another meeting on Tuesday evening. This also was impossible, but they succeeded in having one yesterday morning. Ten members were present, including Hunter, who wanted so badly to be the successor of Mayor Debevoise, and who presided and voted with the others for the Impeacement. Having accomplished so much the Board passed a resolution to employ counsel, in forgetfaliness of the existence of such officials as the Corporation Counsel and the District Attorney, entirely worthy of the Mittators of Comptracting Green.

The Board next resolved to proceed forthwith to Hempstead with their private counsel. Adderman Rafter, who entered at this stage, asked if the President of the Board thought himself justified in acting as Mayor and as a member of the Board of Aldermen also, and he was answered by a resolution from Mr. Quinn (who was removed from the Assessorship by the Mayor and wants to get back again) to the effect that the Board should sustain President Hunter in any action he thought proper to take in this matter, whether right or wrong. This extraordinary resolution was carried, Mr. Raiter alone declining to put himself in the position taken by his ten brethren. Mr. Hunter was then requested, by resolution, to ask for the resignation of the present Corporation Counsel and Commissioner of Public Works, and to nominate two Aldermanic Impeachers for those positions. Then the Board adjourned, and the impeachment "ring" started, with their counsel wand a number of other hopeiul-looking sorcheads, for Hempstead. Judges Tappan, Snediker and Seaman presided in the Court of Oyer and Terminer.

The Repulse AND ROUT.

The impeachers were led by the City Clerk. Soon

Seamen presided in the Court of Oyer and Terminer.

The REPULSE AND BOUT.

The impeachers were led by the City Clerk. Soon after their arrival, their counsel asked the Court to receive the Board of Aldermen's charges against the Mayor. Judge Tappan gianced at the documents. Judge William A. Beach, of New York, appeared on behalf of Mayor Debevoise, and, after hearing him, Judge Tappan immediately handed back the papers, with an intimation to the impeachers and their counsel that they could not be considered. The Court would not even allow the charges to be filed with the County Clerk, and directed that an order to that effect should be entered on the record. This ends the impeachment farce, as far as the removal of Mayor Debevoise is concerned.

Mr. Daniel R. Lyddy, the Aldermen's counsel, has announced his intention to retire from his canvass as Surrogate, for which position he was nominated by the Democratic County Convention. He now confesses that he has irregular naturalization papers, and is afraid to take his seat as Surrogate, even if he were sure of election.

Fight Between Billy Madden and James Taylor at Tolleston, Ind.

Fifty-five Bounds Fought in an Hour and Ten Minutes-A Hundred Policemen Capture Both Principals and Every Spectator Present.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19, 1873. For some days past there has been considerable excitement in sporting circles in this city, apropos of the arrangement of a mill between two local pugs, Billy Madden and Jim Taylor, familiarly own as "Larry." The fight came off yesterday and ended in a most sensational manner, every person present being captured by the Chicago police force, which, with great zeal of little respect for boundary lines, followed the excursion-Billy Madden is a dock laborer in Chicago and has been engaged in several scrapes, in which he has given a good account of himself. In July last nas given a good account of himself. In July last negetiations were pending for a fight between him and Mike O'Connor, better known as "Red Handed Mike," but O'Connor backed out, though Madden offered to fight at 124 pounds and give him six pounds the best of the weights. The present match, which was for $500, rose out of a difficulty between Madden and Taylor about a woman. Tim Casey backed Madden and Pat Glimore (not the Jubilee man) put up for his opponent. was trained by Big George Brown, a negro, and Taylor's mentor was Ed. Downey, whose mill with Jack Fitzgerald in 1869 won him some local repute.

Taylor has had a hard reputation as the leader of a "gang" in Bridgeport. He is a novice in the ring, though he has been concerned in several rough and tumble scrapes. Taylor is about twenty-six years old, weighs 151 pounds, and stands five feet ten and a half inches, being much bigger than Madden, who is only twenty-three, stands five feet eight inches and scales 125 pounds.

Yesterday morning about sixty excursionists took the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago cars for Robertsdale, Madden being among the number. All behaved very quietly. Arrived at Robertsdale couple of hours were spent in looking for Taylor, who had left Chicago on Friday night. Edward Downey, to whom the business of arranging the ring had been left, made a mistake in choosing the ground and it was nearly eight o'clock before he hove in sight. After a two mile walk along the track the ground was selected and the ring soon formed, about two hundred yards from the railroad track, and the men at once commenced their toilet. Jimmy Smith and George Tiler, of New York, acted as Madden's seconds, and Brown, the darky, and James Quinn, of Chicago, did the needful for Taylor. Jack Donnelly officiated as referee and timekeeper. Taylor won the toss and selected the eastern corner, with the sun and wind at his back. The morning was aloudy and a fresh breeze was blowing, when, at fifty-seven minutes past eight o'clock, the men stood up for of arranging the ring had been left, made a

THE PIGHT.

ROUND 1.—On facing each other the contrast between the two men was noticeable, Taylor being every way the larger man. Both were in good condition, considering the short time they had been in training, Madden being, it anything, a little fine and Taylor a shade the other way. The former showed the most artistic in his position and was the favorite in the betting. After some sparring Madden led off for Taylor's nut, but was neatly stooped, and, after slight exchanges on the chin, both closed and fell.

Round 2.—Taylor, apparently desirous of forcing the fighting, got to close quarters at once, despite a hot one on the law, and countering on the forehead knocked Madden down. (First knock down for Taylor.)

Round 3.—Taylor again rushed to close quarters and, after some what wild exchanges on the body, Madden went down to avoid.

Round 4.—Both men prompt to time, Taylor forcing the fighting. Closing, Madden got home heavily on the nose (first blood for Madden cialmed and allowed) and dropped.

Round 5.—Taylor came up with a lump on the jaw and bleeding copiously from the nose. Madden got in another tap on the sore smeller and the men close ad and fell side by side.

Round 6.—Madden tively. He got home again on the nose and followed this up with two heavy rib benders, dropping to avoid.

Rounds 1—2.—Ail of a pattern. Madden, who proved himselt the quicker, both with his bands

ROUNDS 7-12.—All of a pattern. Madden, who proved himself the quicker, both with his hands and on his legs, succeeded in visiting Taylor's damaged physiognomy in every round, occasionally varying the performance by getting Rome on the ribs, and stalling off Taylor's rush and getting down out of danger. Time, 16 minutes. (Five to two on the little 'un going a begging.)

ROUND 18.—Madden planted another heavy body blow from his left duke, that sounded all round the ring, but on closing was thrown.

ROUND 19.—The little one was busy as a nailer, and got in three good ones, one on the ribs and two facers; then, following his usual tactics, dropped. Taylor's face was badly swollen and his nose out of shape. Madden was bleeding from the lip and nose.

ROUND 24.—Madden, nettled by the blow in the last round, fought Taylor into his own corner, gave him pepper on the chin and nose and went down. ROUNDS 20-36.—Counterparts of each other, Madden having the best of it all through, visiting Taylor when and where he pleased and dropping to avoid the latter's rashes.

ROUND 37.—Madden sent in a dangerous one on the throat, but was met by a pretty right-hander, full on the mark, and doored.

ROUNDS 33-47.—Uninteresting and one-sided. Madden, despite the disparity in size and weight, completely outgeneralled and outfought his antagonist at all points. A little sparring and a couple of taps on the face constituted each round, the boy always falling before Taylor—who was slow in his returns—could reach him.

ROUND 48.—The best round in the battle. Give and take was the word, Taylor getting in a swinging upperent on the mouth and being paid in full by a leit-hander ever the leit eye, cutting the brow. Both down; Taylor on top.

ROUNDS 49-55.—The fight went on slowly, Taylor taking his punishment gamely, and keeping so strong that Madden could not obey the advice of his seconds and "go in and finish" his man.

ENTER THE POLICE.

As the men faced each other for the fifty-sixth round, the fight having lasted an hour and ten minutes, a train of seven freight cars came slowly along and drew up opposite the ring. There was no suspicion excited in this, as the spectators believed that the engineer wanted to have a look at the mill, when suddenly the doors were opened and 100 Chicago police, under Commissioner Wright, Chief Washburn and Captains Buckley and Lull, rushed upon the crowd. In a second the ring was broken up and the throng took to wild fight through the swamps. A few pisiolshoit were fired, which induced the ingitives te hait, and the whole party, principals, seconds, referee, spectators and erporters, was bagged, tho

The House being present His Excellency was pleased to open the second session of the Second Parliament of the Dominion of Canada with the following speech his right heavily on the frontispiece and lailing from an overreach.

Round 14.—Rather slow and one-sided, Madden doing all the fighting and dropping very cleverly whenever he was threatened.

Round 17.—Taylor came in viciously, and hot counters on the jaw were exchanged. In the raily in Madden's corner Taylor got home a heavy right-hander on the eye and another on the mouth, the former raising a mouse and the latter.

LORD DUFFERIN SUSTAINED.

A despatch has been received by the Governor General from the imperial government, approving his course in respect to the prorogation of the House in August, and the appointment of a royal commission for taking evidence regarding the charges made by the opposition in connection with the Pacific Kailway scandal, which is pronounced to be entirely in accordance with constitutional practice.

NEWS ITEMS FROM THE DOMINION CAPITAL.

A caucus of Sir John Macdonaid's followers was held this morning at eleven o'clock, at which all the Prince Edward Island members were present.

The despatches received by His Excellency from the law officers of the crown confirming his action, both in respect to the prorogation and of the issuance of the royal commission, were submitted by the Premier.

both in respect to the prorogation and of the Issuance of the royal commission, were submitted by the Premier.

It is understood that the report of the royal commissioners, which will be submitted to both houses, exculpates the government from all the charges contained in the various clauses of Mr. Huntington's indictment. Sir John Macdonald will leave Parliament to take whataver action it may think fit in the promises, whereupon it is expected that Mr. McKenzie, leader of the opposition, will move a resolution containing the gist of the petition presented to His Excellency on the 14th inst.

It is believed, in view of the confirmation of Lord Dafferin's course by the imperial government, that the debate upon the constitutional question will be brief.

Night before last Dr. Schultz received a telegram from Mr. Bowen, of Fort Garry, stating that Riel was hiding in Manitoba, fearing arrest under the warrant upon which Lepine was committed. Dr. Schultz has received several threatening letters, setting forth that his life will be taken should Riel be arrested.

There is a very full attendance of members here.
It is expected the public accounts will be submitted immediately.

COLONEL DE KAY'S RECONNOISSANCE

He Interviews the Community, Examines the Coroner, Converses with Clergymen, Interrogates Justices and Surveys the Neighborhood - The Inquest To Proceed To-Day.

HUNTINGTON, L. I., Oct. 23, 1873. Colonel Sidney De Kay, Aide-de-camp to Gow ernor Dix, has arrived at Huntington to make a ometal inquiry into the facts and circumstance connected with the Kelsey outrage and suspec murder, and the village is quite excited on the subject to-night. Colonel De Kay comes here to inquire into and report the facts as ascertained to the Governor, and, beyond a doubt, the Governor will take action in the matter, as has been alread suggested by the Hiral D, with a view to securing the detection and punishment of the guilty persons. Since his arrival Colonel De Kay has been busily engaged in making inquiries of a large number of persons, officials and private citizens and, with the aid of a light wagon, has visited Oyster Bay and the residence of one or two persons situated several miles from the village Among the parties whom he has called upon are the Rev. Dr. Carter, pastor of the First Presby terian church, of which Dr. Banks, William J. Wood, John McKay, Claudius B. Prime, James McKay, Julia Smith Sammis and Charles G. Kelsey, as well as other persons involved in the crimare, or were at that time, members.

The Colonel also made inquiries of the Rev Moses Scudder, a Methodist clergyman, and presiding elder of the Bridgeport Conference man was to obtain a statement of the case, a nearly every man, woman and child in Huntington has opinions strongly inclined to one side or the other of the question.

Coroner Bayliss, of Queens county, residing a Oyster Bay, before whom the inquest has progressed so slowly, and is to be resumed to morrow, was also called upon for some of the data on the subject of the tragedy. He furnished minutes in abstract from the official record of the testimony thus far developed.

Returning to this village, Colonel De Kay called on Thomas Young, one of the counsel who has been called in to aid the District Attorney in conducting the proceedings before the Coroner. is understood that this visit was made with a view to ascertaining the legal aspects of the matter and a visit with a similar object was next made to Henry Clay Platt, who is also engaged in the legal Henry Clay Platt, who is also engaged in the legale conduct of the inquiry.

Justice W. F. Monfort, before whom the proceedings were had last fall in reference to the tarring and feathering, and upon whose official commitment indictments for riot and assault were found and are still pending against Dr. Sanks and Royal Sammis, was consulted in regard to that phase of the case, as well as the proceedings before him in September last, upon which young Prime was committed for alleged perjury committed at the inquest.

September last, upon which young Prime was committed for alleged perjury committed at the inquest.

John McKay, one of the tar party, and who, it will be recollected, took his wife over to Mrs. Oakley's to join the party of ladies, assembled there to see Kelsey unclad save by his hideous coat of tar and feathers, was visited by Colonei De Kay. John does not be-lieve that Kelsey is dead, and doubtless took particular pains to impress upon the Colonei's mind that conclusion, as well as the theory that that body was obtained and put into Cold Spring Harbot through a wicked reud which originated in politics and has for its object the planting of the crime of murder upon the best citizens in the place.

William W. Wood, a wealthy citizen, residing on west Neck in the town of Huntington, and who subscribed to the citizen's fund for the prosecution of the inquiry, was also called on. Mr. Wood may be fairly looked upon as an impartial gentleman, as he has never participated in the case further than the lending of his sympathy and paying his money to have the perpetrators of the crime detected and brought to punishment, so that the community might be relieved of the odium which the outrage has cast upon it. E. K. Bryar, a gentleman residing on the road leading to Lloyd's Beach, and who has already testified to hearing the wagon pass along that road on its way to the harbor, as is supposed with the body of Kelsey, on that dark November morning, was consuited. Mr. Bryar is a gentleman of uneans, who has taken peculiar pains in informing himself of all the previous developments in this very complicated and mysterious case, and in analyzing their relative importance to each other and to the general chain of the evidence.

District Attorney Tuthill arrived from Riverhead by the evening train, and this evening a joint con-of the evidence.

District Attorney Tuthili arrived from Riverhe:
by the evening train, and this evening a joint or sultation was had, in which Messrs. DeKay, Tr hill, Young, Platt and Montfort participated. To conference lasted several hours. Colonel iteKa who was some years ago a resident of Oyster Ba takes a neculiar in erest in the case, and conference lasted several hours. Colonel DeKay, who was some years ago a resident of Oyster Bay, takes a peculiar in lerest in the case, and confesses that he has also been quite amused with some of the interviews he has had. He expresses the opinion that he has surpassed any newspaper reporter in existence in the number of persons he has interviewed in the time he has been here. Her will attend the inquest session at Oyster Bay tomorrow, and in the evening he will proceed to Albany to report to the Governor and to hold a consultation with Attorney General Barlow in reference to this and the Phelps defalcation cases.

Colonel DeKay thinks they were a very rotten pair of legs which were found in Oyster Bay, which seems to indicate that he does not think they were specially planted there, and his remark doubtless foreshadows the nature of the report he will make to the Governor.

AN UNSPRAKABLE SECRET.

Colonel De Kay further stated this evening that in the course of his inquiries statements had been made to him in strict confidence by members of both the tar and anti-tar factions, which he could not communicate to any person save the Governor, not even to the Attorney General. Considering the circumstances under which the disclosured were made to him it is extremely difficult to understand the true meaning of this remark, unless it indicates that the whole thing, as it has already been hinted at, is a political conspiracy.

SAD ACCIDENT IN PROVIDENCE.

Too-well Tested Trestle Gives Way Water-One Man Drowned. NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 23, 1878.

This morning a sad accident occurred at the new pier of the Wilkesbarre Coal and Iron Company, which is being constructed in Providence. A temporary trestlework had been built for the purpose of running out dump cars to fill in with gravel in each side. The contractor, Mr. Hodgemann, desiring to test the strength of the trestle, tested it with a single loaded car, then two, three, and, finally, four, but not the slightest weakness was visible. Shortly afterwards, however, an awful crash was heard by Mr. Hodgemann and his gang, who were at work some distance off. Proceeding immediately to the spot they discovered the cause. The trestle had given way, and three of the four dumps and five of the twelve workmen were precipitated into the water. Four of the men—Michael Connor, John Monahan and two Portuguese—were rescued, but all suffered severe signifes. The fifth, a young, Portuguese, named John Castanna, aged twentyfive years, was caught and pinned down by the car, and drowned. It was a sad spectacie, as he was seen between the second and third cars, with his hands thrust through the framework, beckoning, for aid which it was impossible to render. The cause of the accident was the breaking of two caps which were not strong enough to sustain the weight.
